

SF NEXTSTOP / Complete the Central Subway to North Beach and Fisherman's Wharf

The Compelling Case for Extending the Central Subway

- Fulfill the promise of the Central Subway by completing its route. Fully connect residents, jobs, services and attractions on the City's crowded and critical East side.
- Reduce the congested surface traffic
- Provide downtown and regional access for residents of San Francisco's densest residential neighborhoods.
- Help meet Plan Bay Area Goals by providing reliable transit connecting the densest areas of the city
- Meet SF's Transit-First objectives with unparalleled resident and visitor ridership capacity.
- Reduce MTA operating costs by eliminating or consolidating inefficient surface lines.

The Next Steps – Quickly Pursue the Extension.

- SFMTA has started the process to extend the Central Subway, with the initial study to be completed this Summer
- Include the extension in the County and Regional Transportation Plans
- Secure the Pagoda Theater site for the North Beach Station
- Pursue expedited environmental review, approval and funding
- Start Construction as soon as possible

Let's complete the Central Subway to North Beach and Fisherman's Wharf.
